No Whistlestop Tours For Ike

MARBLEHEAD, Mass.—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will discuss political issues publicly but won't go in for any "whistlestop tour" for the Republican presidential nomination when he returns to the United States, Sen. Lodge (R-Mass.) said last night.

Lodge, the General's campaign manager, said Eisenhower will be "completely frank with the American public," adding, "he will not hook a private car on the back of a train for a whistle-stop tour. He will be himself, remain in character, do things in his regular way."

Eisenhower, whose resignation as European Command commander is effective June 1, is scheduled to make a major address in his home town of Abilene, Kan., June 4. He will lay the cornerstone of an Eisenhower museum there.

Lodge announced the general's plans in an Eisenhower rally speech last night. An accompanying statement from the Eisenhower campaign headquarters in Washington said that soon after the Abilene address the general "expects to go to Denver, where Mrs. Eisenhower's mother resides, remaining there several weeks."

The Republican nominating convention in Chicago will start July 7.

Stranded 19 Days At North Pole, Bomber Reaches Greenland

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A Navy patrol bomber carrying 11 men has arrived safely in Greenland after being stranded 19 days on an ice island 80 miles from the North Pole.

An engine of the plane, a P2V Neptune, failed on a take off attempt during a planned flight to the North Pole. The air force flew in a spare engine and a crew of seven men from Kodiak, Alaska, to repair the plane.

The Navy and Air Force are studying water and ice conditions in the polar regions.

Mayor Cobo Improved After Heart Attack

DETROIT—(AP)—Mayor Albert E. Cobo was reported "improved" today from a serious heart attack which struck him Thursday.

The mayor's condition is still serious, physicians at Henry Ford Hospital said, but he spent a "reasonably comfortable night" Friday.

He was removed from an oxygen tent yesterday and members of his family were permitted to visit him briefly.

The mayor is suffering from coronary occlusion. He is expected to be in the hospital three to four weeks with several weeks convalescence at home after that.

Sen. Russell Launches Presidential Campaign

By BEM PRICE

ATLANTA—(AP)—The campaign of Sen. Richard B. Russell for the Democratic Presidential nomination was launched last night with cheers, confusion and a stand for internationalism and states rights.

There were two versions of the speech Russell was to deliver at the $50-a-plate dinner formally opening his campaign and the Senator followed neither through-out.

While Russell made a strong effort in both versions distributed to newspapermen to rise above sectionalism, just before he went on a radio network, James S. Peters, Georgia Democratic executive committee chairman, declared:

"The South will sit at the head of the table or I will be damned if we will sit at all."

The 54-year-old junior Senator from Georgia was forced to edit sharply whichever copy of the speech he was using to avoid running beyond his allotted 30 minutes radio time.

In the pared down version the bachelor Senator, a veteran of 20 years in Washington, asserted, "we must preserve our constitutional government" and "protect the sovereign states against over-concentration of powers in the federal government."

Russell, who leaves here today to begin campaigning in Florida, hastily concluded by saying that if the South "will stand firm at the convention, Democrats from the rest of the nation will come to us and we will receive victory."

The version of his speech handed out by his Washington office had Russell characterizing himself as "the only Democrat who can defeat a certain military person."

Governor Signs Big Money Bills

LANSING—(AP)—Two major appropriations bills were approved yesterday by Governor Williams.

Williams signed into law bills to appropriate $52,418,067 for the social welfare department and vocational education and $4,672,347 as a deficiency appropriation for cash-short state departments.

The governor also signed bills to:

Provide for the establishment of a state records center under the control of the office services division of the department of administration.

Amend the law regulating telephone companies to require that no increase in rates shall be permitted except after public hearing.

Amend the law regulating the licensing of medical physicians and surgeons to provide that members may be selected by the governor from a list submitted by the Michigan State Medical Society with the further requirement that one member of the board shall be a homeopathic physician.

Change the accounting procedures for state funds to bring them in line with current practices.

Amend the state boat tax to provide that the tax be collected by the Secretary of State instead of the State Revenue Department.

Authorize that the governing body of any city or village to borrow money in anticipation of state-collected taxes returned to the municipalities for road-building purposes.

Red China Accused Of Drug Warfare To Weaken UN Morale

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—(AP)—America's top narcotics sleuth accused Red China today of drug warfare against the U. N. in the Far East.

Harry J. Anslinger, U. S. narcotics commissioner, said he will present fully documented cases to prove his charge to the U. N. commission on narcotic drugs next week. Anslinger is the U. S. delegate to the commission.

Opium For Cotton

He told a reporter the Oriental Communists had a two-fold purpose: selling habit-forming drugs to finance party activities and buy war materials, and spreading drug addiction to undermine the morale of U. S. and other troops in the Far East.

North Korean as well as Chinese Communists are involved in growing, smuggling and selling the drugs, chiefly heroin, Anslinger said. Japan is the principal target. Japanese Communists were enlisted in the ring, he said.

Anslinger said American business men also were approached by the Chinese Communists with an offer to exchange opium for cotton. They notified the government and did not trade.

On information from military authorities and his own undercover men in the Far East, Anslinger named the ringleader of the Oriental Communist drug war as Po I Po, alias Heku Itsu Pa, in charge of the central financial and economic committee in Peking.

The committee has taken over direction of poppy planting in large areas of China's Jehol province, and the manufacture of heroin in Tsientsin.

The committee sends out the product for distribution in Japan. American soldiers are one of the targets inside Japan, with brothels an outlet for the pushers. The Japanese people are another target.

Governor Tries To Get Revenge On Legislature

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING, Mich.—(AP)—Governor Williams' refusal to let the people vote on revision of Michigan's 45-year-old constitution borders on petulance.

(He vetoed a bill allowing the voters to decide next fall whether a constitutional convention should be called to draft a new constitution. Later the people would have been asked to elect delegates to a constitutional convention, and still later to vote on whether to adopt the new draft.)

My Way Or Nothing
By this and other vetoes of tax measures, Williams is putting himself in the position of one who says "you do it my way, or I won't play."

The governor is mad because the legislature won't pass his corporation profits tax and won't re-appportion the legislature. It killed the reapportionment measure and passed a number of different tax bills.

Irrespective of the merits of the corporation tax and reapportionment, Williams' veto of the constitutional convention actually means he is refusing to permit even an attempt to change the state's badly-mangled constitution. Its messed up condition is the reason the state is nearly broke, and Williams has been one of the loudest complainers about the state's fiscal condition.

Fiscal Mess Continues
But when he gets a chance to seek a change, he rejects it.

The conclusion is inescapable that he is willing to continue the present fiscal mess, to reject any and all tax alternatives until he can force the legislature to do it his way—pass a corporation profits tax.

His position feeds the Republican contention that Williams doesn't want to solve the state's financial problem, that he merely wants to win his point—the corporation profits tax—for the political vindication which he thinks would result.

Capital observers are having trouble rationalizing Williams' thinking in the whole matter. To them he appears inconsistent.

Handling Of Prison Mutiny Criticized; Shakeups Indicated

JACKSON, Mich.—(AP)—A rousing storm of criticism surged back and forth today over handling of the Southern Michigan prison riot.

A series of investigations impended in the four-day mutiny which cost the life of one prisoner, wounded nearly a score of inmates and guards and left some $2,000,000 damage in its wake.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who approved the 11-point agreement on prison reforms demanded by 170-odd convict rebels, sharply reprimanded the young psychologist who negotiated the surrender terms.

Purge Demanded

Williams acted as various state officials demanded a shakeup in top prison personnel, mentioned a possible grand jury probe and promised that the mutineers would be prosecuted for any crimes committed in connection with the riot.

Williams ordered an official reprimand given to Dr. Vernon Fox, assistant deputy warden and chief prison psychologist who had broadcast his congratulations to the rebel leaders.

The 36-year-old Fox, popular with many of the huge prison's 6,500 inmates, spoke over the prison loudspeaker system Thursday just before the mutineers surrendered from embattled cell-block 15 and freed their eight hostage guards.

Williams termed Fox's message "highly improper."

Fox had praised convict chief-tain Earl Ward as a "natural leader" and said he and his fellows were "to be congratulated on the good faith with which they have bargained."

"Fox," said the governor, "performed magnificent work in bringing about the surrender of the convicts in Block 15 and saving the lives of the guards."

"Except for this, his choice of language in addressing the inmates would be utterly inexcusable."

Fox commented that press accounts had given the wrong impression of his statement. He said he congratulated the men only because they had given up 20 hours in advance of their original deadline and said he called Ward a leader "in the sense that an individual is judged by comparing

Final Armistice Accord Blocked By 3 Big Issues

By ROBERT E. TUCKMAN

MUNSAN, Korea.—(AP)—The U. N. Command today was reported planning a new and possibly bold move to break the Korean truce talk stalemate as the Communists agreed to a full dress meeting of armistice delegations Sunday.

There was no indication what the Allies will propose when the five-man delegations of admirals and generals meet Sunday. It will be the first plenary session since Feb. 19.

The U. N. called for the session after the Reds Friday broke off secret talks on how to exchange prisoners of war because the Allies said fewer than half the prisoners they home want to go home.

Subject Not Divulged

The Communists said Saturday they would attend the full dress meeting, but asked what the U. N. Command wanted to discuss. They were told the subject would be the "armistice agreement."

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckolls, official U. N. spokesman, said this was the only answer the Communists would get.

The top negotiators will face three major stumbling blocks to a Korean truce: (1) The dispute over whether prisoners should be allowed to choose whether they will return home; (2) an Allied demand for a ban on airfield construction during an armistice; and (3) Communist nomination of Russia as a neutral inspector.

The Communists agreed to the plenary session 30 minutes before staff officers working on plans for supervising a truce held a brief and fruitless meeting.

Prisoners Screened

They made no headway during the six-minute session toward breaking the Russian and airfield deadlocks.

The staff officers will decide after Sunday's plenary session when they will meet again.

Prisoner exchange talks were recessed indefinitely Friday after the Allies said fewer than 70,000 of about 169,000 prisoners of war and civilian internees want to return to Communist-held territory.

The Reds had indicated they would not insist that all Allied-held prisoners be returned if they got back about 116,000.

The U. N. Command screened all prisoners held on Kojima Island to find out how many wanted to return home. Each was interviewed privately. Those who said they would object forcibly to being repatriated were moved to six new camps on the Korean mainland.

Both Sides Sweating Out Court Decision In Steel Plant Seizure

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The government and the steel industry sweated out in tense expectancy today a period of waiting for an historic court decision on the legality of President Truman's seizure of the nation's steel mills.

After listening to arguments by lawyers of both sides in a crowded courtroom yesterday, Federal District Judge David A. Pine said he would "take the case under submission and give it my attention to the exclusion of all other court business."

The 60-year-old jurist did not say when he might render his decision but legal experts said it may not be announced until Monday or later.

The soft-spoken judge had plenty of reading material for the weekend—hundreds of pages of legal briefs filed by the government and six steel companies and the transcript of almost two full days of testimony, filled with legal footnotes.

Meanwhile, the government authorized a $3 a ton average price rise for steel, effective May 1. But it won't take effect until individual steel companies apply for it or the government decrees it in force.

The six companies engaged in the district court action have asked that Secretary of Commerce Sawyer be forbidden to raise the wages of 650,000 CIO steel workers. Truman turned operation of the mills over to Sawyer after he seized them April 8.

Five of the companies also are asking Pine to declare the seizure order itself illegal, with Sawyer also the defendant in this suit. The six companies involved in the court action produce 70 per cent of the nation's steel.

Judge Pine took the case under consideration after the government contended the courts lack authority to nullify the President's seizure action.

Taft-Eisenhower Duel Shapes Up

(By The Associated Press)

The presidential racecourse was abuzz today (Saturday) with signs—some in bold letters—pointing to a Taft-Eisenhower duel for the Republican nomination.

Here are the most noticeable: 1. Republicans in five states—Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Georgia and Utah—elect a total of 59 nominating convention delegates at meetings today. In each state the battle was between forces of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower and Ohio's Sen. Robert Taft.

2. Gov. John A. Fine of Pennsylvania, who will head his state's 70-vote GOP delegation, said in Harrisburg "it looks like a two-horse race" between Eisenhower and Taft.

3. Much the same thought was expressed by Harold Stassen, former governor of Minnesota and a candidate for the GOP nomination. In Cleveland, he told newsmen: "I recognize that Sen. Taft and Gen. Eisenhower are the two front runners."

4. Taft and Eisenhower were pulling away from the field in tabulation of delegate strength. With 603 votes needed for nomination—a majority of the 1,205 total—Taft headquarters claimed, as of Thursday night, 300 for the Ohioan as against 213 for Eisenhower. The Associated Press tabulation—based on delegates pledged, instructed, favorable or willing to state a first ballot choice and on concessions—showed, as of Friday night: Taft 233, Eisenhower 216.

Republicans Kick Off With $150-A-Plate Dinner At Detroit

DETROIT—(AP)—A gilt-edged dinner, at $150 a plate, will kick off the Michigan Republican party's pre-convention campaign here Monday night.

Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) will be honored at the banquet for which party leaders said 1,500 Republicans have reserved places.

For their $150 GOP party workers will get roast beef, salad, potatoes, ice cream and coffee.

Funds raised at the affair will finance the Michigan party campaign until after the July convention in Chicago. Then Republicans will start their regular county and state drives for campaign funds.

Music Teacher Asks $120,000 Damages In Nude Camp Raid

DETROIT—(AP)—An Ohio music teacher who says she is "proud to be a nudist" declared she was "humiliated and embarrassed" when convicted of indecent exposure after a nudist camp raid.

Miss Edith Church, 42, of Maumee, O., testified yesterday in her $120,000 damage suit against Michigan authorities who raided the camp.

Miss Church and 17 other persons were caught by the police raiders in the nudist camp near Monroe on Aug. 29, 1949. She was fined $150 as were four other women and four men.

Miss Church said that along with seven others she was dressed at the time—in shorts and a halter though "the string around my neck wasn't tied."

Foster Luse, former Monroe county prosecuting attorney and a co-defendant, described Miss Church's costume as "a little playsuit not fastened in the back."

Federal Judge Frank A. Picard and a jury of five men and seven women are hearing the case against Luse, Monroe County Sheriff Ray Gensler and State Police.

Miss Church said some of the men in the camp—unclothed—were playing volleyball when one of them looked through a fence and shouted, "Holy cats, there's a whole carful of them." She said the fence had peepholes so the nudists could watch out for peeping toms.

Present Potato Shortage Due To Light 1951 Crop

A light crop of potatoes in Delta county last season is currently causing a slight famine of the tubers here.

Local retailers and consumers have been unable to buy the potatoes which formerly were fairly abundant at this time of the year.

The lack of potatoes on the market is directly attributable, according to J. L. Heirman, county farm agent, to the short crop harvested in Delta county last year because of an unusually wet spring and summer and the lack of an adequate control of the resulting blight.

A short crop was also harvested in other parts of the country. Because of this, Heirman reports, out-of-county dealers came here to buy potatoes from farmers, offering them attractive prices. The result was that a good deal of the potatoes grown here went out of the county.

"Competition among the buyers of the crop was very keen," he said.

Some small potatoes were available on the market last week. Part of these were US No. 2 grade, the last spuds in the farmers' bins in many cases.

New Potatoes Expected Soon
Others were US No. 1B, according to Al Geartts, manager of the Northwest Fruit Company, which the wholesale produce firm bought from a Houghton county dealer.

New potatoes from California were expected by Geartts to arrive soon, causing a break in the present short supply of table stock.

Beside the light crop, Geartts attributes the present shortage to the fact that dealers were reluctant to buy potatoes in late 1951 and early 1952 because of an anticipated price ceiling that was finally announced by the Office of Price Stabilization to go into effect Jan. 19.

Cold In California
Not knowing at what price a hundredweight would be set, they held off buying the potatoes for future sale. Consequently, other purchasers bought much of the potatoes for use in such items as potato chips.

The present short supply might not be as apparent as it is if new potatoes from other states were not late in arriving here.

Cold weather in California, according to Geartts, has delayed about 30 days the movement of new potatoes to Midwest consumers.

Potatoes Off Menu At U. Of Michigan

ANN ARBOR—(AP)—Potato-less meals are the rule at University of Michigan residence halls, at least until July.

Notices were posted yesterday that the University has been unable to purchase potatoes at ceiling prices. No potatoes will be served in University dining halls until July when the Michigan crop comes to market.

F. C. Shiel, manager of service enterprises said what potatoes the University has been able to obtain will be turned over to University hospital.

Escanaba Girl Foils Attacker

An Escanaba young woman, 19, choked and struck in the face last night by an unidentified assailant, escaped the attacker and fled to her home, it was reported to Escanaba police by the girl's father.

Ralph Kennelly of 315 North 18th St. told police that his daughter, Marilyn, was accosted by the man a short distance from her home at 10:40 last night.

The man followed her in his car and then jumped out and grabbed the young woman, placing his hands over her mouth. She twisted away, screaming, and ran to her home.

Police said it was the third time within the past month that reports have been received of a man molesting women.

The man was described as about 35 years of age, stocky, and wearing a plaid jacket, dark trousers, and a uniform cap.

Dam Enlargement Is Planned In Germany

HEIMBACH, Germany—(AP)—Europe's largest water reservoir with a storage capacity of seven billion cubic feet is planned by West Germany.

The project, still subject to final state and federal approval, aims at supplying the big textile and steel industries on the left bank of the Rhine with water and power for decades to come.

At an estimated cost of 10½ million dollars the Rur valley reservoir will be enlarged to double its present capacity. The Schwammenauel Dam will be raised from 185 feet to 238 feet. Twenty-four hundred workers are to be employed four years on the dam enlargement scheduled to start this fall.

Delta County Road Repairs Under Way

The annual repair program of the Delta county road commission is under way to remedy the damages inflicted on roads by winter freezing and spring thaw.

After spring break-up has taken its toll on county roads, about 100 miles of blacktop road is in need of re-surfacing and approximately 1,050 miles of gravel road calls for a new layer of gravel.

Some of the repair work is being done now, according to William Karas, superintendent-engineer of the road commission, and some will have to wait for warmer weather and additional funds.

Mostly Graveling Now
Most of the current activity in the repair program is in the way of re-laying a covering of gravel on several county roads.

Graveling was in progress this week on several miles of road in Bark River township. Re-surfacing of blacktop roads will have to wait until the summer months when warmer weather will bring the conditions under which blacktop is laid.

Even then, all blacktop roads that need re-surfacing will not get it because of the unavailability of the funds the complete job requires.

Patching of these roads where that can be done, and where it is advisable, will be programmed before the summer.

Damage By Frost
Most of the damage to county roads was caused by the freezing and melting of water under the road bed.

During the winter months, expansion of frozen materials under the road creates an upward pressure, pushing the road surface up in certain spots. If the overlying surface is old blacktop, which it is through much of the county, the surface cracks and is broken up by vehicles passing over it. Holes and jagged depressions result in the surface.

If water lies close under the surface, the weight of cars and trucks makes it ooze up through the broken material, creating a "boiling" condition.

Proper Drainage Needed
A large part of the solution to the under-road water problem, according to Karas, lies in proper drainage of the water.

Clean ditches on both sides of the road into which the water can drain out from under the road and run off, is the first step to effectively fighting the problem of incessant spring breakdown of roads, he contends.

Digging of these ditches should precede laying a new surface of blacktop, Karas said. All county roads are paralleled by drainage ditches which are now overgrown with underbrush, and in some cases, blocked completely by earth moved into them by farmers.

After the ditches are re-dug and a new blacktop is laid, the effects of spring thaw and winter freezing will diminish, since new blacktop is flexible and will yield to upward pressures.

The road repair program in the county is being bolstered this year by funds which the townships must, by state statute, provide for maintenance of their roads.

Through that measure, townships have already earmarked sums for the road commission. Most of these are for graveling work which the commission has begun.

Some of the amounts pledged by the townships for 1952 or 1952-53: Nahma, $14,000; Maple Ridge, $8,000; Wells, $15,000; Bark River, $4,000; Ensign, $3,500; Ford River, $5,000; Escanaba township, $1,200 per year for five years; Brampton, $1,000 and Fairbanks, $1,000.

President's 'Unlimited Authority' Contention Faces Court Battle

THE contention of Federal Government attorneys in the steel seizure case that the President of the United States is not limited by the Constitution, that he can do whatever he thinks necessary regardless of law, is a fantastic one. We cannot believe that the Federal Courts will sustain such a contention.

If the President of the United States has unlimited authority, as the Administration attorneys now contend, then we have dictatorship. There is no point then in having a Congress and no point in having a judicial branch of government. Instead, we would have only the President of the United States, with authority as great as any king of feudal times.

The Constitution then becomes worthless and with it the Bill of Rights.

This apparently is what President Truman had in mind when he said at a recent press conference that the President's authority is exceptionally broad. He hinted at that time that he could take over the nation's radio stations and newspapers if he decided that it was in the country's interest to do so.

The pointed questions of Federal Judge David Pine in Washington to Assistant Attorney General Holmes Baldrige provides a broad hint that the judge certainly does not agree that the President has authority so great that it is illegal to enjoin any action he may take.

The court fight on the steel seizure issue has grown to an issue of tremendous importance to all of the American people. It has gone far and beyond the question of whether steel seizure is within the national interest. The pertinent question now is whether the nation is prepared to accept the contention of Mr. Truman and his followers that the President of the United States can assume the role of dictator if, and when he may desire to do so.

MICHIGAN INCOME TAX? (Marquette Eagle-Star)

Any Wisconsin legislator who dares mention a general sales tax, though we have several specific sales taxes in force, is inviting a torrent of rage that should sweep him out of office in the first election that he makes another bid for office. About as much can be said in Michigan for any legislator who suggests the state should have an income tax levy. Just the same the subject has been mentioned, though ever so cautiously.

Michigan is currently operating in the red to the tune of 50 million dollars or more and a Republican who represents a Lower Peninsula county in the House has gone so far as to say, "I suspect we won't solve our problem until we get some such a tax." He referred to an income tax.

The income tax he has in mind would be one of those so-called harmless levies—a one per cent tax on all individual and corporation incomes of $5,000 or more a year that would bring about 32 millions in revenue annually. But let Michigan be warned, that would only be the start.

Once the public accepted an income tax levy, the Michigan legislators would quickly find ways of reducing the minimum incomes on which a tax could be levied because they would see how easy it is to collect taxes via the income method. An income tax in Michigan comparable to the system operating in Wisconsin would produce an estimated 500 million dollars, or a little more than twice as much as the sales tax brought to Michigan during the last fiscal year. The sales tax collections amounted to 240 millions.

The compelling reason why Michigan does not have an income tax is the feeling that it would be political suicide for the party which advocated and enacted such a law. And that's about the way Wisconsin feels about a sales tax.

SILLY DEER ARGUMENT (Marquette Eagle-Star)

Few subjects prompt greater distortions than the deer question and a good example came during debate in the Michigan Senate on the discretionary power bill, designed to give the Michigan Conservation Commission power to regulate deer hunting.

The Senate has informally agreed to give the commission discretionary power to regulate deer hunting in the Lower Peninsula, but it has turned down the proposal that the discretionary power be extended to six district areas in the Upper Peninsula. The reason the Upper Peninsula was excluded was the contention by Senator Leo H. Roy of Hancock that Wisconsin, under a similar plan, "killed off most of its deer and now is asking for a closed season because it has no deer left."

How silly can some legislators get in their arguments? For the benefit of Senator Roy, it should be said that Wisconsin still has a large deer herd and there is little talk of a closed season next fall. The main question here is whether the state should go back to the one-buck arrangement which prevailed until two successive any-deer seasons were held. Here, as in Michigan, there is divided opinion on the procedure to be followed, but nobody would suggest that Wisconsin no longer has any deer.

TAX EXPOSES

Headline news this week was the King tax fraud subcommittee's revelation that Joseph B. Numan, former internal revenue commissioner, made cash deposits totaling $87,328, which he did not report in his income-tax return.

This startling news was revealed exclusively and in great detail by Drew Pearson on March 28, 1952. Pearson gave the names of the companies paying Numan, the amounts, and the tax cases involved as a part of the series of tax exposes which he has been publishing for the last three years.

(Editor's Note—This is the last of Drew Pearson's current series of columns on General Eisenhower and his work in Europe.)

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The rush to get close to the throne has already started in Paris. It always starts with a presidential candidate, especially a prospective winner, and with Ike it's started earlier than ever. His office is deluged with newsmen, magazine-writers, barons of big business, political hot shots, old friends and others who want to nudge closer to the man they think will be the next President of the U. S. A.

It's a long way between Paris and New York, but distance doesn't matter when it comes to basking in the smile of a future President.

Ike is even experiencing already the jealousies of the palace guard. It was scrambling for position among the nobles around the British crown that caused the civil wars of England, and it's jealousy among Truman's close advisers that sometimes contributes to his isolation—and resultant blunders. Already Eisenhower is experiencing some of this unpleasantness.

It began over a year ago when the Pentagon had to assign a press relations man to Ike's staff. Col. Pete Carroll, one of his closest aides, reported in Washington that the general wanted Merrill Mueller, NBC commentator, to handle his press relations. He got Brig. Gen. C. T. (Buck) Latham, a tough combat officer, wounded in Germany.

RIVALRY OF HUCKSTERS

Latham turned out to be tops, plays no favorites, issues no "diplomatic" denials, has steered clear of politics. Ike has been lucky to have him.

However, also attached to Ike's publicity staff, nobody knows exactly how, is Col. Jack Lawrence of Hollywood, former publicity man for Sam Goldwyn, later for J. Arthur Rank's British movies. Lawrence was in the vanguard of those edging toward the throne, and it was rumored that after November he would be the Steve Early of the new Eisenhower palace guard.

However, Lawrence appears to be falling by the wayside, with another huckster edging into the inner circle. He is Howard Chase, public relations expert for the giant General Foods Company. Chase was recommended to Ike by Clarence Francis, chairman of the board of General Foods, even though, when Chase came to Paris to see the man he was to promote for President, he had not made up his mind whether he was for Ike or for Taft.

He is now working on Ike, however, though in New York, not Paris, and is supposed to be strictly political. Chase is a man of imagination, and when the general made his first NATO report on the European army, he proposed that Ike walk past a row of 12 NATO generals with 12 reports under his arm, passing them out like diplomas, while newsmen and TV cameras clicked away merrily.

General Latham promptly sat on that, and so did Ike later.

This continues the scramble to get close to the man who someday may be king.

IKE HASN'T CHANGED

So far the man whose favor is sought doesn't seem spoiled by it at all. He remains simple, direct and politically somewhat naive.

I am convinced also that Ike has a nostalgic reluctance to sever all ties with the Army. The Army has been his career. He has lived it, breathed it, been proud of it, and in some ways I think he hates to quit.

It may sound paradoxical, but I am also convinced that Eisenhower is completely civilian-minded and would lean over backward, if President, not to encroach on the slightest civil, business, or human liberty.

There would be far less chance of his seizing the steel industry, I believe, than perhaps even Taft's, despite the fact that Taft is in the forefront of Truman's steel critics. Ike, however, is so afraid of mixing military power with civilian control, that his errors would be in the opposite direction.

Once Orphan Of War, Latvian DP Is Now Normal American Boy

By RICHARD KLEINER

NEA Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—(NEA)—Alfred Meyer is already a normal American boy. At 12, he has been here two and one-half years. Today, he can boast of the following accomplishments:

He has broken a window with a baseball.

He has a newspaper route.

He is taking piano lessons and avoids practice if possible.

He has to be reminded that he must wash thoroughly.

He is forbidden to read comic books, but does so anyway.

He likes Western stories on the radio.

"Alfred is much like any 12-year-old boy," says his foster father, "although he still has much to learn."

His adjustment is a tribute to his foster father, Rev. Paul G. Meyer, pastor of St. Matthew's Evangelical Lutheran Church. He took a nervous, nightmare-racked, skinny boy of 10 who had been living in various orphanages since he was 2½, and molded a healthy, well-balanced, husky youth.

There is not much that Alfred can remember about his early life. He was born in Latvia, but those early days are lost in a childish fog. Through it come a few terrifying memories, which are hard to place in the right sequence.

One memory is very vivid. At one of the many homes he lived in, (probably in Latvia), some soldiers came in. They lined up all the boys and took away all those above a certain height. Alfred was too short, so he stayed.

There is another memory about a boat (probably the one that evacuated the Latvian orphanages to Germany under the Nazis). Alfred remembers the boat was bombed and strafed, but he wasn't hurt. The memory about that boat—ride that is strongest is that he was "the only one" who didn't get sick.

Officially, the first record of Alfred's existence came after the war. He was one of the wandering children found by an UNRRA search team and put in a center in what became the British zone of Germany. The center was taken over by the IRO.

Meyer had applied for an orphan through the National Lutheran Council. He was sent to Alfred. Everybody is very happy about the arrangement.

When he first came to Pittsburgh, Alfred knew no English and the Meyers knew no Latvian. They managed to talk in the little German they all knew. Alfred had no conception of the idea of "family." He called every man "uncle" and every woman "aunt."

"The words 'father' and 'mother,'" says Meyer, "were simply terms for people who had direct and sole charge of him. He had a great deal of respect for male authority, but he had to be taught to respect the authority of his mother."

The biggest problem with Alfred—and one that still exists in some small measure—is that he had never learned cooperation, sportsmanship and fair play. At play, he made up the rules of the games as he went along, and the rules he invented always favored himself.

Once Meyer took him to a department store. In the store's parking lot, Meyer cruised around looking for a place to park, but every space was taken. Finally, he saw a car getting ready to back out and he got in position to pull into the space. But he noticed a car that had evidently been waiting for the same space for a longer time, so he backed away.

"Alfred was puzzled and furious that I had neglected to take advantage of my favorable position," Meyer recalls. "He simply could not understand why the fact that the other man had been waiting longer gave him a better right. I finally said, 'That's the way we do things here in America!'

Alfred had never had a toy in all his life. Although he was 10, he began by playing with simple toys. It took about two years to work his way up to his own age scale.

In school, he learned quickly. He was hardly a model student, however. He showed off persistently. Meyer believes this was a result of his feeling of inferiority, plus the fact that he had grown up in a world which taught the doctrine of survival of the fittest.

The other children quickly grew tired of his attempts to dominate. Alfred tried to bribe them with his toys, but they would have no part of him. Today, however, he's learned enough about fair play so that he's getting back into the games.

He likes sports, but is not very good at them, and he likes to go with his Dad on hunting or fishing trips.

After he was with the Meyers for six months, he said he was going to run away. Meyer said that was foolish; if he wanted to leave he could just walk out, he didn't have to run away. He suggested that leaving wasn't a good idea, because Alfred would get hungry.

"I never get hungry," said Alfred, "no matter how long I don't eat."

He offered to prove his point by going without food. Meyer calmly said he could go ahead and prove his non-eating talent any time he wanted. Alfred had missed six meals when he left for school two days later.

"Hey, pop," he called back. "I'm hungry."

"All right," said Meyer, "your lunch will be ready for you at noon."

He started out the door again. "Hey, pop," he called again. "Tell mom I'm hungry, too."

"OK, son," said Meyer.

There's been no further talk of running away.

Good Evening...

WITHOUT CARNIVAL — Silvery little fish (smelt) are rioting up Delta county streams this spring without benefit of carnival at Escanaba.

This absence of jamboree spirit among the people appears to have no effect upon the smelt. They just keep rollin' along.

Such a state of affairs was almost unheard of a few years ago when every community with (and sometimes without) a smelt stream was the sponsor of smelt carnivals, jamborees and celebrations.

Perhaps the smelt, having been with us for some 15 years, are becoming an accepted part of the Northern Michigan scene.

NO SPIRIT OF FUN — After a tour of several of the nearby smelt streams the other evening we came to the obvious conclusion that it takes a hardy soul to put the carnival flavor into smelt dipping.

The smelt dippers are, in the majority, hard-working men who are in the business for profit and not for fun. These men produce the thousands of tons of smelt that go to the dealers and thence to market.

Wielding a dip net hour after hour while standing on a slippery platform with cold water lapping around your feet is no picnic—or carnival, either.

WAITING THEM OUT—The only jollity displayed was among the visitors, who walked up and down the river bank and kept asking the dippers if they were getting anything.

And the dippers patiently explained that they had so far dipped only a few smelt, that it was still early, that the smelt run did not usually start until about midnight or later, and that it had been a good run last night.

The visitors, usually not supplied with nets, asked "Could I dip for awhile," and took the net and dipped a few times in the dark and swiftly flowing water.

They then returned the net, asked some more questions, stood around for awhile, climbed into their cars and drove to another stream where they repeated the performance.

LATE AT NIGHT—Some of the visitors did have dip nets and used them more or less expertly.

But it was the commercial dippers who stayed on past midnight for the "fun." When the real run came they were there and within an hour or two scooped out of the river enough smelt to fill the boxes and barrels and trailers with the little fish.

Along toward the breaking of the cold spring dawn they halted their work, loaded the fish into trucks or trailers, and set out for the dealers to sell the product of their labor.

When the run first started the fishermen were receiving two to two and one-half cents a pound. Now the price was reported to be down to one cent.

NEVER TO RETURN—Sportsmen smelt dippers this year were fortunate for two reasons: 1—The abundance of smelt; 2—That smelt ran even in the daytime on some small streams.

Smelt dipping in the daytime can be very pleasant indeed, with none of the objectionable features of nighttime fishing. The sun shines warm and if you fall into the water you can hang your clothes on a limb to dry.

This coming weekend you might want to try daylight smelt fishing at the Tacooch and Squaw creeks, where the fish are found lingering in holes or pockets of the stream bottom.

Despite the growing number of smelt being taken and the attention smelt dipping receives from sportsmen, it is doubtful the smelt carnival ever will be revived. The novelty is gone—but the smelt dipping is as popular as ever.

Power With Words

REFLECTIONS

The flecks that you sometimes see before your eyes and the flection of a muscle have no relation; the first four letters just happen to be the same. "Fleck" is a descendant of a word left by the Norse who invaded England back in the Middle Ages, but "flection" is Latin in its source.

"Flecto" is Latin, meaning to bend. A "flexor" (FLEX-ur), from the same word, is the name given to any muscle that serves to bend one of the joints, such as the "flexors" of the fingers. A pianist or violinist "flexes" his fingers or his wrists many times a day to exercise the muscles that he must use in becoming a skillful player.

Accordingly, whenever you see either "flex" or "flect" as a part of an English word, you may be almost certain that the meaning of that word has something to do with bending. "Flexible" means capable of being bent; a wire is flexible. A "flexure" (FLEX-shur) is a part that is bent; we speak of the "flexure" of the jawbone in referring to its curve. A stream or road is "flexuous" (FLEX-yu-us) that bends frequently, and plants that bend gently to and fro are said to be "flexuose" (FLEX-yu-ose).

The doctor who taps just below our kneecap with his small rubber mallet does so to determine the "reflex" (REF-flex) action of the nerve, to see how promptly the nerve will cause the muscle to bend the knee. A "reflexive" (ri-FLEX-iv) verb bends the action back upon its subject; as, "The baby feeds himself." In these, "re" means back.

A mirror "reflects" (ri-FLECTs) an image, for the light rays of the image are bent back. The beholder sees a "reflection" (ri-FLECT-shun), and the mirror is a "reflector" (ri-FLECT-tur). Occasionally we find ourselves in a "reflective" (ri-FLECT-iv) mood when our thoughts turn back to something that occurred previously.

Sometimes in a dictionary one sees a curved mark over a letter, which is to show that that letter has a speified sound, or it may be that a Spanish word has a letter with a wavy line over it. Such a curved or wavy line is a "circumflex" (SUR-cum-FLEX), from Latin "circumflecto," literally, to bend around, but which has the meaning, to give a long sound to.

U. S. Navy Band Coming Monday

THE U. S. Navy Band is coming to Escanaba Monday under the sponsorship of the Escanaba Band Boosters. It offers an opportunity for music lovers in Escanaba and surrounding communities to see and hear one of the finest musical organizations in the entire world.

Those who attended the U. S. Marine Band concert in Escanaba a year ago still recall the stirring music presented by that illustrious service band. The U. S. Navy Band, coming Monday, is the same kind of a musical group. Many regard the Navy Band as the top military band in the world.

If you have not already purchased tickets for this outstanding concert, don't hesitate any longer. If you like good band music—and who doesn't?—you'll get a thrill of a lifetime in hearing the Navy Band. Also, you will be making a contribution for the purchase of new uniforms for the Escanaba High School band.

Questions and Answers

Q—How does an invention differ from a discovery?

A—Invention is putting materials together so as to make something which did not exist before. Discovery usually means finding or uncovering something which exists, but has never before been observed.

Q—What are today's most popular cuts for diamonds?

A—The Brilliant, a round stone, the Emerald cut, a rectangular stone, and the Marquise, an oval with pointed ends. All three cuts have 58 facets.

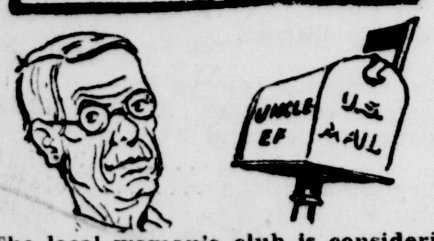

Q—How many rooms does the "new" White House have?

A—Approximately 66 instead of 55 rooms. An exact count of the rooms depends upon whether certain foyers not enclosed by four walls can be called "rooms."

Q—How long has the penny postcard been in existence in the U. S.?

A—The one-cent card was in circulation from 1873 to Jan. 1, 1952, except for a 20-month period in World War I when Congress raised the rate to two cents. It is now two cents again.

What Does It Mean to Love God?

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

The love of God was deeply ingrained in Jewish religion and worship, and was at the very heart of the faith and experience of the devout souls in Israel.

In the synagogue the recitation of the "shema," consisting of verses 4 to 9 in Deuteronomy 6 had a place similar to the regular use of the Lord's Prayer in Christian churches today.

We do not know just how, or at what time, the consciousness of His Messiahship and divine mission may have become a reality to the Master.

In the normal life of the boy Jesus growing up in Nazareth, attending the synagogue "as his custom was" (Luke 4:16), I have often thought of the thrill with which this 12-year-old lad must have heard from Sabbath to Sabbath those great commanding words:

"Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord: And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might."

I have no doubt that in the synagogue services, there were many to whom the worship was conventional and formal, to whom the recitation was a mere exercise in the order of worship.

To a devout and sensitive soul, however, the words were an invitation to a vast and limitless experience, involving all that man was, and all that man could be.

What it means to love God is emphasized in the very nature of the command to love God with all the heart and soul, and might. Both in Judaism and in Christianity religion and religious experience is not merely a part of life; it underlies and dominates the whole life of the true believer and disciple. The typical prayer to God of the devout Israelite was, "Search me and know my heart; try me and know my thoughts; and see if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting" (Psalm 129:23, 24).

And a typical Christian precept is, "Whether therefore ye eat or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God" (1 Corinthians 10:31).

But what it means to love God depends not only upon man's whole-hearted sincerity; it depends, also, upon man's conception of the God whom he loves. The pagan may be wholeheartedly devoted to an idol. Many a man has bowed down reverently to a God of stern justice and righteousness; but it is something more to love a God, who Himself is Love.

To love God is to love God's creatures. The Apostle John puts it very plainly in many passages in his Epistles. "He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love."

What a world this might be, if the great multitude of those, both Jews and Christians, who profess to cherish the truth of the Bible, really put what it means to love God into their daily lives!

God's Living Letters

By Kirby Page

To be a saint in character and a social reformer in activity were the achievements of John Woolman the Quaker. He was born in 1720 and died in 1772.

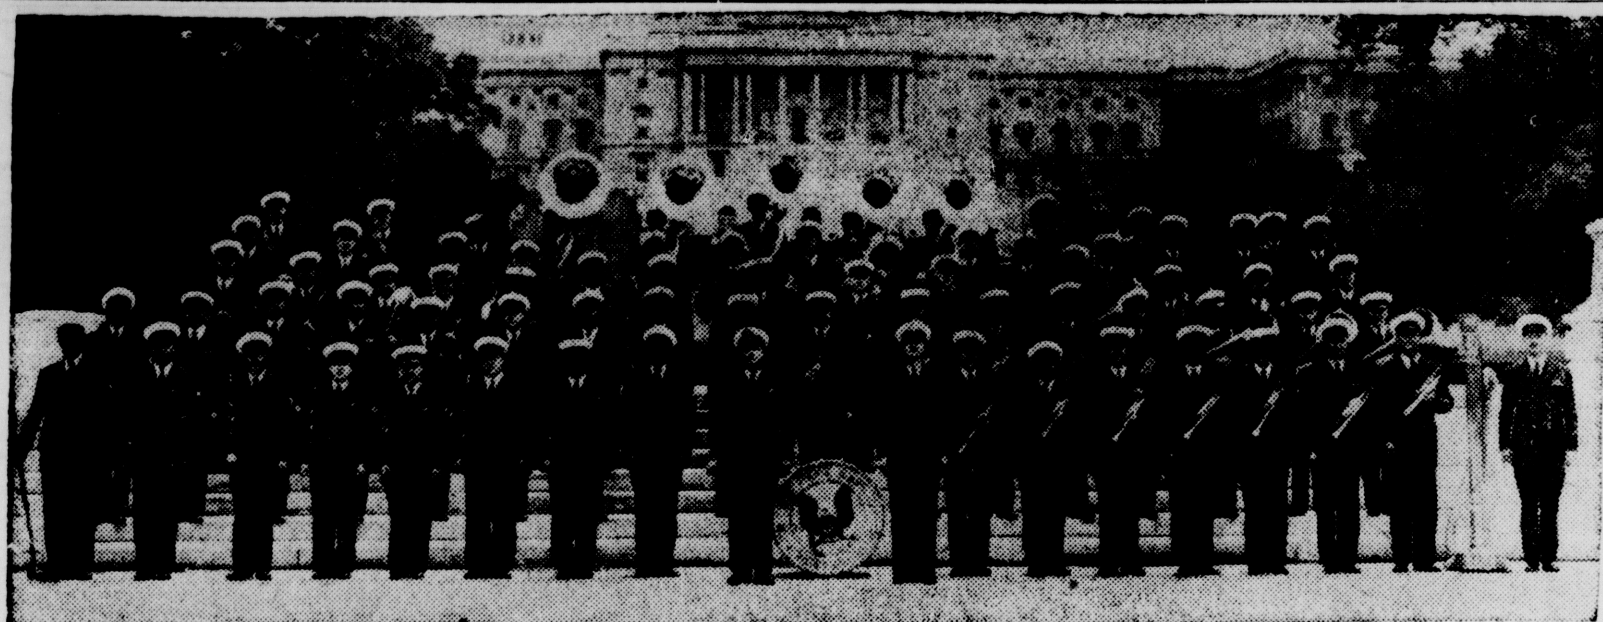

His Journal is a classic of devotional literature and has been a source of inspiration to thousands of readers for two centuries. He was successively clerk, tailor, teacher, farmer. Gentle was his spirit, and humble his nature. He was fond of solitude, and constantly felt the presence of God. The Quaker doctrine of the Inner Light was the foundation of his experience.

Because he saw "that of God in every man," he had respect and reverence for human personality. He therefore recoiled from every form of human degradation and exploitation. He was a friend of Indians, and sought to check the white man's depredations upon them.

He was one of the first to realize how seriously many workers were being exploited, and one of the earliest to plead for economic justice.

But it was to the movement for the freedom of slaves that John Woolman gave his fullest allegiance. His method was gentle persuasion of Quaker masters to free their slaves, rather than to denounce slave-owners as brutal and cruel. He became an itinerant lay preacher, making many long journeys by foot and on horseback through the wilderness as far south as Virginia and Carolina, visiting in the homes of friends who held black men in bondage.

The effectiveness of his persuasion brought about one of the most amazing reforms in history. Within the Society of Friends, by his efforts and those who worked with him, chattel slavery was cast out. By 1784 the last of the Quarterly Meetings had taken action, no slaveholder could remain as a member of the meeting. Thus ended slavery among the Qu

Network Highlights

NEW YORK—(AP)—Daylight saving comes to the networks again tomorrow, simultaneously bringing the usual spring realignment of programs designed to meet the annual double time confusion.

Radio again will operate its well-tried scheme of sending programs first on daylight time, then repeating an hour later on standard through the use of delayed recordings. Stations are segregated into groups according to their local times.

Television, where a double relay would be almost impracticable, will move its entire schedule up to eastern daylight time, bringing its programs an hour earlier in standard time communities.

In keeping with past practice, radio listings in this column will be carried under the notation, "Eastern Local Time," which means that the times as given correspond to local clock time, whether daylight or standard. Any variations will be indicated.

U. S. Navy Band In Concert Here Monday

Widely heralded as "The World's Finest," the United States Navy Band will appear in concerts Monday in Wm. Oliver Memorial auditorium at Escanaba.

Sponsored by the Escanaba Band Boosters for the High School Band uniform fund, the Navy Band directed by Lt. Comm. Charles Brendler, will appear in evening concert at 8:15.

Arriving in Escanaba Monday noon the Navy Band will be escorted from Junior High school down Ludington by the Escanaba High school band.

A Versatile Band
Monday afternoon the Navy Band will present a matinee concert to be largely attended by students. Popular music, jazz classics and novelties will be featured.

The evening concert numbers have been selected with a view of pleasing genuine music lovers of all ages, according to Director Brendler. Included will be numbers which may be requested by the audience before the concert begins.

Primarily a great and stirring military band, capable of doing justice to all the magnificent works of music written for the band, the Navy Band's 90-musicians group are also men of versatility. They can, on a moment's notice, furnish a symphony orchestra or supply a lively dance band or a string ensemble.

Vast Music Library

The Navy Band's music library is reportedly the largest anywhere in the world. It includes symphonic works, latest tunes off the hit parade, and fantasies for string instruments.

Among composers the band members express a preference for the works of Tchaikovsky, with Wagner, Brahms, Beethoven, Mozart, Bach, and Strauss all rating high in their esteem.

In the past two years the Escanaba Band Boosters have sponsored appearances here by the U. S. Marine Band and the University of Michigan Band.

A feature of the evening program will be the participation of Upper Peninsula high school musicians in the Navy Band concert. The students were selected today following auditions by Glen Smith and Dwight Dailey of U. of

Attack On Eisenhower As Politician Made By Secretary Of Labor

CUMBERLAND, Md.—(AP)—Secretary of Labor Tobin says the Democratic party "isn't interested in a mystery man" as a candidate for president and "won't be satisfied with a smile or a good military record or a knack for kissing babies."

In one of the first administration attacks on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as a politician, Tobin said the party "wants a man who stands for something and has the decency to tell the American people what it is."

Tobin, addressing a Jefferson-Jackson day dinner here last night, did not mention Eisenhower by name, but he left little doubt that he was referring to the general, a leading candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

The Auburndale

Spacious Ranch House For 100 Ft. Lot

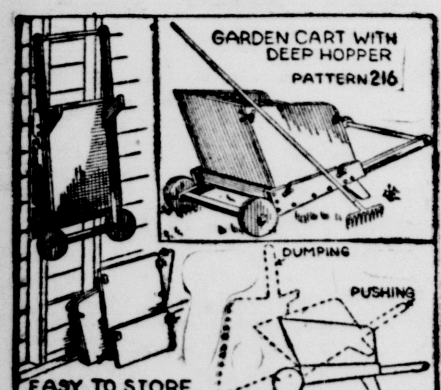

Rooms Six
Bedrooms Two
Closets Five
Cubage: House 28,600 ft.
Garage 6,400 ft.
Dimensions 71'x36'

Measuring 26'x38', the main house has a cubage of 28,600 feet. Overall dimensions are 71'x36'. The garage is 21'x20'. A 100 foot lot would be ideal for "The Auburndale" and attached garage. This house can, of course, be built in stages if you so desire, but be sure to allow enough land for the completed house. If you are certain that you won't want a garage or utility room you'll be able to build on a smaller lot.

An abundance of windows, and the wide chimney built outside the house give added charm and appeal to the exterior appearance of "The Auburndale." Colorful roofing can be used to give still further appeal to the exterior. A shingled or clapboarded exterior is recommended and simple landscaping is most attractive and suitable for a house of this type. The slight roof overhang provides protection for the front entrance. In the entry hall there is a good sized closet in the back wall; the open archway on the right leads to the 21'x13'4" living room.

Well Lighted Room
Three windows in the front wall and two in the right wall insure an abundance of light and good ventilation for the living room. A window seat could easily be built under the three windows in the front hall; such a

If you choose to have a porch rather than a utility room, you can leave this area open or can glass or screen it in and use it as an extra room for your family or your guests.

Lighted and ventilated by three windows, the garage measures 21'x20'. A smaller garage can be constructed, of course, if you have no use for a two car garage. Or, if you prefer, you can use the extra space in this garage for storage.

One window in the back wall provides ample light and ventilation for the thoroughly modern bathroom which is large enough to hold both a tub and a built-in shower. A large linen closet opens on the connecting hallway just to the right of the bathroom door.

Both bedrooms measures 13'x11'4" and are assured of the benefits of cross ventilation and good lighting. The back bedroom has two windows in its back wall and one in the left wall; the front bedroom has two windows in the front wall and one in the left wall. Both rooms have spacious closets.

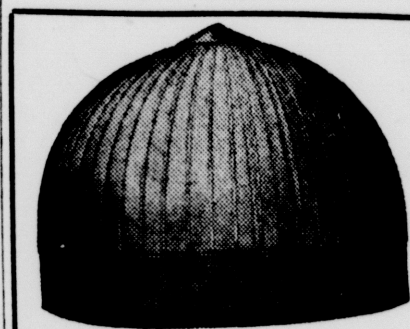

There also is another closet, which can be used for general storage purposes, opening on the central hall between the two bedrooms. A second linen closet also opens on this hallway; if you don't want a second linen closet you can use this closet for

Use Optional

Designed to serve as either a porch or utility room, an 11'x9' area opens directly off the kitchen; provides protected access to and from the two-car garage.

Two windows and a door in the front wall plus the two windows and the door in the back wall of the utility room make it especially suitable for a laundry. The sun deck, reached through the door in the back wall of the

"Education" Can Turn Head Of The Shallow

By Elizabeth B. Hurlock, Ph.D.

Education can do one of two things to a person. It will either make him a bigger, more successful, and more understanding person or it will turn him into a snob who feels that everyone is beneath him and, consequently, not worth bothering about. The latter effect is well illustrated in the following letter:

(Q) "My son married a girl from a very poor family right after she graduated from high school. For the 11 years of their marriage, he has continued to educate her in art, music, and many, many other subjects. She has become so overeducated that she snubs most of her relatives. In the past three years, we have not set foot in their home and for the past year, she has not been in our house. My son comes on holiday every but he has been coming alone. The next time he comes, should I act as if nothing had happened or give him a taste of his own medicine and say so long as they preferred to ignore us there is no need in coming to see us?"

Mrs. H. M. (A) Your son is really not to blame for this whole situation. Even if he comes to see you only at holiday times, it is a struggle for him to get away even then. There is doubtless a scene between your son and his wife before and after each visit.

So long as your son comes to see you, make him feel welcome and show him your love for him. After all, he is your son and you do not want to break off that relationship. But it is another story very plainly how she feels about you. Ignore her existence. Don't even bother to ask your son how she is or how any interest whatsoever in her.

Her head has been turned by advantages she would never have had, had it not been for the help of your son. And, like most people who have had their heads turned, she believes she is too good for anyone who has not been fortunate enough to have her advantages.

She is not "overeducated," as you say, but rather "undereducated." She has a surface veneer of education but nothing substantial. This she shows by her snobbish attitude. What possible good are art, music, and other subjects to her if she lacks the most important quality in life, the ability to get along with people? And, how can she hold her own with people whose education is equal or superior to hers if she has the attitude of a charlatan?

Dr. Hurlock is author of 12 books in psychology. Her advice in this column is free. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Report Made On Athletics

A financial report covering football and basketball at Manistique school during the past season has been issued to the Manistique Board of Education by William J. Cook, school athletic director.

The report reveals a net loss in football of $11.24 and a net gain of $280.70 in basketball.

Five out-of-town football games increased transportation costs during the season and are responsible for the small deficit, Cook said. Only three home games were played during the 1951 season. Next fall five home and three out-of-town games are scheduled.

Football ticket sales totaled $2,374.13 and expenses amounted to $2,385.37. Expenses were broken down as follows: Transportation, $321.50; meals, $285.80; federal tax, $384.03; personnel for handling games, $133.50; officials' fee and transportation, $230.18; athletic benefit plan, $238.75; football equipment and first aid supplies, $622.93; Mr. Courneya, $7; award letters, $74.36; Manistique Lumber and Coal Company, lime, $27.30; telephone, $6.50; miscellaneous, $13.52.

Cage Income $2,601.15
Income for car rental from Board of Education for field improvement was $71.25 and net income from sale of programs amounted to $31.42. A total of 5,839 persons paid to attend games. Basketball income totaled $2,601.15, including ticket sales at regular games, $1,657.10; tournament ticket sales, $726.05; and regional tournament return, $218.

Basketball expense, amounting to $2,320.45, included transportation, $741.36; meals, $402.49; miscellaneous, $226.69; game personnel, $152; officials' fees, $383.52; benefit plan, $8.75; telephone, $5.60; basketball uniforms, $177.70; cleaning uniforms, $65.10; basketballs, $155.99; Great Lakes Conference dues, $10; first aid, $1.25.

The miscellaneous item of $226.69 included hotel, Sault, $42.55; hotel, Houghton, $45; tournament supplies, $41.35; state tournament share, $28.79; and P. A. system repairs, $9.

Tournament Report
Total paid basketball attendance was 5,111 persons.
Income from the sale of programs amounted to $15.78.

In reporting on the basketball season, Cook pointed out that there were seven home games and nine out-of-town games, again making transportation expenses higher. The game arrangement next season will be reversed, with nine home contests and seven games away.

Tournament income of $726.05 included proceeds from ticket sales and a fee of $37.50 from the Marquette radio station for broadcasting rights. Tournament disbursements amounted to $149.31, including trophy, medals, officials, basketball and liability insurance, leaving a balance of $576.74 in gross receipts.

Manistique high school received 30 per cent or $115.35 of this amount, and Marquette, Newberry and Sault Ste. Marie, other competing tournament schools, were paid $343. The remaining balance of $118.79 was disbursed as follows: Manistique high school, $29.60; Michigan High School Athletic Association, $88.79.

Forming Fire Squads At MHS

An effort to organize emergency forest fire fighting squads composed of Manistique high school boys was launched this week, it is announced by Carl Olson, principal.

Formation of the emergency crews was requested recently by the Manistique ranger office.

Boys who join the units must have parental consent and they must be prepared to respond to an emergency fire call immediately.

Squads will be composed of eight to 10 youths, each with a youth leader. When mobilized for action they will work under the supervision of an adult fire fighter. They will be provided with tools—shovels, back pumps, grub hoes—and will not be allowed to operate any power equipment.

When impressed into service the boys will be paid the prevailing rate for the jobs to which they are assigned.

Mistakes Made By New Manager Prove Costly To Consolidated Firm

C. L. Lumber Mill

By W. S. CROWE

I never could understand Mr. Harmon. I do not think the words "yes" or "no" were in his vocabulary, and he could make a complicated affair out of the most simple deal. To go from A to B he wouldn't go direct but would wander all through the alphabet and come back to B through C, providing he didn't get lost or sidetracked on the way. He convinced the Union Trust Company, which was influential on our board of directors, that the "Chicago" Company's ideas of lumbering were old fog and out of date, and for several months was given a pretty free hand as president and general manager. He was very jealous of anyone connected with the old company. He was the "modern" businessman who was going to show the old crowd how it should be done.

Shut Camps Down

The first costly mistake was when he and his woods superintendent, Fred Cooper, shut down (in midwinter) a couple of the "Chicago" company camps which were cutting pine, and started a new camp in mixed timber giving as a reason that they wanted to "save some of the pine to 'sweeten' next year's cut," although Weston had contracted for the pine, and Hines would take all the hemlock and hardwood we could cut without any "sweetening." The Consolidated camps' logging costs that winter were at least $2.00 per M more than they should have been.

The next big mistake was to replace the C. L. Mill foreman and head band sawyer with men imported from Menominee, which created bad feeling and made the mill crew sore and sulky.

Made Mill Changes

On top of that by advice of the new foreman (although the mill was all set and ready to go) he installed a new resaw and made other changes costing over $30,000.00 before they had ever seen a wheel turn, and the changes were all for the worse, because the new machinery had a lot of "bugs," spoiled a lot of clear pine lumber, reduced the daily cut, and delayed the starting of the mill in the spring of 1913, nearly 30 days with the result that on August 1st when our contract with Weston called for 4 million feet to be in pile we had less than 1 million feet, and we were forced to revise Weston's contract, pay him interest from the previous December, and carry his lumber over to the next shipping season. The extra interest, taxes and insurance on Weston's lumber cost us $16,768.00.

Things eventually got so bad that even the Trust Co., woke up. Mr. Bradford came up from Detroit. An emergency meeting of the directors was held. Mr. Harmon was let out and the job was shoved onto me, much against my will, with instructions to do the best I could to pull the company out of the hole. I accepted providing I be given an absolutely free hand and that the Union Trust Co. would cooperate. Mr. Bradford agreed, saying "It's your 'baby' now, but we'll help you nurse it."

New Diamond Being Built

Relocation of the Manistique baseball diamond to a site north of the race-track at the fairgrounds is now underway, it is reported by T. H. Reque, city recreation director.

The National Guard's large bulldozer is being used to develop a new infield, and it is expected that the field will be ready for use when the baseball season opens. The entire field is to be fenced, it is announced.

The work is being done under the direction of the Manistique Baseball Association.

A reorganization meeting of the association has been called for 7:30 next Wednesday night at the State Savings Bank conference room at which time new directors will be named and plans completed for the 1952 season.

Clubwomen To Hear Mrs. Paul

Mrs. Carroll Paul, of Marquette, will be the speaker at a meeting of the Manistique Women's Club next Tuesday afternoon, April 29, at the Manistique Elks building.

Mrs. Paul, speaking on the topic, "Faded Elegance," will discuss the foibles and furbelows of the Gay Nineties as they were lived in the Upper Peninsula.

On this subject Mrs. Paul speaks with authority. During the Gay Nineties period her family, profiting by the spectacular rise in the value of iron ore properties, built and maintained a sort of sandstone castle overlooking Lake Superior where lavish entertainment was the order of the day.

Barrels of live oysters packed in ice and costumes straight from Paris gave competing hostesses something to shoot at, and the resulting "fuss and feathers" would seem incredible today.

In the past three years, as curator of the small museum opened by the Marquette County Historical Society, she has been able to salvage many a battered souvenir of this flamboyant era, and has promised to bring with her a collection of the more fantastic objects with which to illustrate her talk. Among these will be items like fancy souvenir spoons, gold-encrusted moustache cups, gentlemen's New Year cards snugled in plush roses, wedding lingerie from Paris, and fine kid boots with sharp pointed toes.

The meeting will be preceded by a 1 p. m. luncheon served by the First Methodist ladies' group.

Mrs. Louise Zucca, 171 River St., left Friday for Escanaba, where she will join her sister and brother and accompany them to International Falls, Minn., where they will visit their sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. L. Laurion.

Wilson and program chairman is Mrs. John Anderson. Hostesses will be Mrs. Vilas Gray, Mrs. Walter Linderorth and Mrs. Lionel Tyrell. All members are asked to be present.

Manistique Wins Six Qualifying Positions At District Festival

Manistique high school students won six out of 11 qualifying positions at the district forensic festival yesterday afternoon at Newberry.

In addition Manistique participants earned four of six superior ratings granted at the event. Local qualifiers for the Upper Peninsula forensic finals in Marquette were:

Delor LaFolle in humorous reading, superior rating.

Janet Sheahan in dramatic monologue, highest superior rating at the district event.

William Corson in radio news commentary, superior rating.

Laura Pizzala in extemporaneous speaking, superior rating.

Nicholas Babladelis and Jon Schuster in extemporaneous speaking, high excellent rating.

The five other district winners were:

Peggy Thibedeau, of Newberry, in oratory, high excellent rating. Doris Thompson, of Rudyard, in humorous reading, high excellent rating.

Susan Smallridge, of Sault Ste. Marie, in lyric poetry, superior rating.

Albert Senter, of Sault Ste. Marie, in dramatic dialogue, superior rating.

Irene Villemure, of Newberry, in dramatic dialogue, high excellent rating.

Mary Ella Giovannini, of Manistique, topped her division in oratorical declamation but her excellent rating was a shade short of qualifying her for the regional finals. Manistique's Jean Carlson also earned an excellent rating in radio news commentary which was not quite high enough to qualify for the regional event.

A total of 35 contestants from four schools took part in the festival.

The Manistique group was accompanied by Marvin Frederickson, forensic coach, and Carl Olson, high school principal.

Visiting Pastor To Take Charge Of Music At Sunday Services

The Rev. Tedford Rasmussen, of Iron Mountain, will have charge of the musical portion of the Sunday evening services, April 27, at the Manistique Seventh Day Adventist Church.

The Rev. Rasmussen is pastor of the Iron Mountain Seventh Day Adventist Church, and is well known in that city as a bass soloist and "black-light" chalk artist.

A special feature of this meeting, the sixth in a series of Sunday evening meetings, will be the showing of the picture, "A Wonderful Life," aimed at inspiring to finer and better Christian living, according to the Rev. Reo Clyde, local pastor.

The Bible subject of the evening, "When a Man Dies," will be presented by the Rev. Clyde in the absence of the Rev. Alonzo R. Mohr, of Escanaba, the regular evening speaker, who will be in Lansing on business.

Pastor Clyde has asked that those planning to attend please note a change of the starting time from 7:30 to 8 p. m. The later hour has been chosen to provide better conditions for watching the picture, he states.

Will Reorganize Softball League

Reorganization of the Manistique Softball League is scheduled at a meeting at 7:30 p. m. Monday at the city fire hall, it is announced by T. H. Reque, city recreation director.

Managers of last year's teams and others interested in softball are invited to the session.

In accordance with action taken last season, the softball loop this year will be operated by a board of managers.

Save A Forest...

Over a week of warm, dry weather has created an extremely hazardous forest fire condition in the forests of the Upper Peninsula.

With hundreds of trout fishermen invading the wilderness this weekend, the danger of forest fires will be aggravated tremendously.

We urge you to be as careful with the woods as you would be with your own home. They are our greatest natural asset—providing income, needed materials, game, scenic beauty, a multitude of necessities for better living.

Watch it while in the woods—don't be responsible for starting a fire.

With Ray Crandall

Wally Strom, ninth grade cage coach at Gladstone, missed an award at the Lions basketball recognition banquet Thursday night. Coach Don Pfotenauer had rigged up a handsome bronze pin honoring Strom as the coach of the only undefeated basketball team in Gladstone High School in 1951-52. The ninth graders played two games and won them both. It was Strom who commented at the football banquet last Fall: "Don, I sure hope you get to be named football coach of the year some day so that I will have the honor of being the assistant coach of the year."

The Ironwood Red Devils, who ran off with honors in the Class B Upper Peninsula championship track and field meet here last Spring, had a track turnout of 71 recently. The Red Devils annually excel at track and have won the U. P. Class B crown four times in the past six years. Coach Jack Kraemer has 13 lettermen back this year.

The Upper Peninsula Golden Gloves tournament here next winter may draw fighters from a community that has been idle on the boxing scene for some time. Announcement was made this week that Ray Mariucci, former Michigan State College boxer, will start mid classes at the Izzo Athletic club next week. "Fundamentals of boxing and training will be stressed," says Mariucci.

Date of the first official Escanaba High School track and field event has been changed from May 3 to May 2. The Eskymos will be host to Marquette that date.

There has been no change in the condition of the Iron Mountain skier, William "Buddy" Lewis, who has been in a coma for 56 days as the result of a skiing accident. An accomplished skier, Lewis crashed head-on into a tree while practicing for a meet. He suffered a skull fracture and a brain hemorrhage. Two brain operations have been performed but the 16-year-old Iron Mountain High student still remains unconscious.

Indians Tip Emeralds In First Track Meet

MANISTIQUE—Newberry thin-clads captured the dual track and field meet here yesterday afternoon with Manistique, piling up 66½ points to Manistique's 42½. Newberry took eight firsts and Manistique five in the 13-event program.

Simpson Swaps Bat And Stance

DETROIT—A lighter bat and new crouching stance may turn skinny Harry Leon Simpson into the right fielder the Cleveland Indians have been hunting for years. The 26-year-old Georgia Negro drove in two runs that tied the score against Chicago at Cleveland yesterday, then came home himself with the run that won the game, 5-4. Up five times, he belted a double and two singles.

Simpson now leads Indian hitters with seven runs batted in—something of a feat for a lead-off batter. His average in the first 10 games has been .325, compared to .229 he hit last year, his rookie season.

"I'm not chopping the ball into the ground so much," Harry said in explaining his improvement. "The new (shorter and lighter) bat makes it easier to meet the ball squarely. I'm going for base hits, not home runs."

His performance backs up this self-analysis. The two-run double he hit yesterday is the only extra-base blow among the 13 hits Simpson has collected in 10 games.

All three of his hits yesterday came off southpaw Billy Pierce. Simpson couldn't average even .200 against left-hand pitchers last year.

Mile Aces May Be Beaten In Relays

PHILADELPHIA—Don Gehrmann and his FBI shadow, Fred Wilt, play another chapter in their serial track rivalry today, but if they're not careful both may play a supporting role in the mile feature of the 58th annual Penn Relays Carnival.

Both Lt. Warren Druetzier, former Michigan State star now stationed at Camp Lee, Va., and Denis Johansson, the 1,500 meter champion of Finland, are in the field and quite capable of showing their heels to Gehrmann and Wilt.

If the driving rain that retarded performances in yesterday's opening events of the track and field carnival passes on as the weatherman predicts, one of this all-star field could break the meet mark of 4:08.3 set last year by England's Roger Bannister.

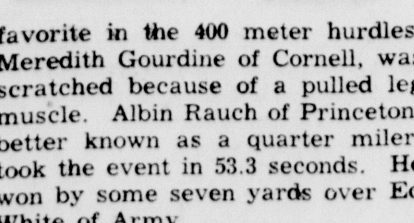

Shoot For Record The milers aren't the only ones hoping for clearer skies. Michigan's Big 10 distance runners, thwarted yesterday in an effort to break their week-old distance medley record of 9:56.3, today are gunning for the four mile relay meet mark of 17:16.2 set in 1937 by Indiana. They have a good chance of doing it if the track is dried out.

Michigan's colorful medley quartet of Aaron Gordon, John Carroll, John Ross and Don McEwen, ran a creditable 10:18.1 in edging Lockbourne Air Base of Columbus, O., in the distance medley run. The service team, on the wings of a great anchor leg by Hobart Jones, comparative unknown trackman from Nebraska, trailed by only a few yards at the finish.

The race was a thrilling climax as a cold, raw, rainy day that started off on a sour note when the favorite in the 400 meter hurdles, Meredith Gourdin of Cornell, was scratched because of a pulled leg muscle. Albin Rauch of Princeton, better known as a quarter miler, took the event in 53.3 seconds. He won by some seven yards over Ed White of Army.

Don Gehrmann

Fred Wilt

Sweden Wins Sweden Olympic team member, Roland Nilsson, now heaving the discus for Michigan, won this event with a toss of 160 feet, 11½ inches. Last year's winner, Cummin Clancy of Villanova and Ireland, could place no better than seventh as the soggy turf caused him to foul most of his throws.

Michigan's Van Brunner qualified for the finals by winning the first heat of the invitation 100-yard high hurdles.

Dick Shea of Army recorded his third straight Penn Relay victory in the two mile run, despite a damaged right ankle. He had slipped on a newly waxed dormitory floor in mid-week. He won over Penn State's Lamont Smith in 9:33.5, not bad for the water logged track.

Bill Hansen's 692 Is High In City Tourney

Three new leaders took over this week in the City Association Bowling tournament with Bill Hansen of the Jensen & Jensen

Tigers Looking For First Win

DETROIT—The tail-end Detroit Tigers take on the Cleveland Indians today—and they're still looking for their first American League victory of 1952.

The Detroiters had this unusual situation to brag about. They didn't lose yesterday or the day before. They were rained out Wednesday, and they weren't scheduled yesterday.

Art Houtteman, beaten twice by the closest of margins (5-4 and 3-2) will oppose Bob Lemon, normally a Tiger tamer and already a two-game winner.

Tiger fans, with Lemon pitching, aren't nearly as enthusiastic about their boys breaking into the win column today as tomorrow.

Ted Gray has been posted as the Sunday hurler, and as one fan said: "They gotta get him a run some day. He's lost two already, and the Tigers haven't got him a run yet."

Teddy isn't conceded any easy time it Sunday, however, because either Mike Garcia or Steve Gromek will be on the mound for the Indians.

Here's a resume of the season to date, hits, runs, etc., for the Tigers:

Runs: Tigers 14; opponents 34. Hits: Tigers 53; opponents 64. Homers: Tigers 2; opponents 9. Errors: 5; 3.

Despite the statistical deficit, the Tigers have drawn 160,822 fans thus far this season. That's 20,102 per game and pretty good for a team that hasn't won a game.

Fixers Barred From Pro Sports

NEW YORK—Henry Poppe and John Byrnes, two ex-Manhattan College basketball players who were charged with conspiracy to shave points, won't be imprisoned, but they never will play professional sports of any kind.

The pair, co-captains of the Jasper 1949-50 team, pleaded guilty to the charge and yesterday were told by Judge James M. Barrett that they will be sent to jail if they are found to be playing professional sports. In addition, he placed them on probation for three years.

Judge Barrett, however, wasn't so lenient with three other confessed conspirators. He sentenced Benjamin Schwartzberg of Brooklyn and Cornelius Kelleher of New York to one year each and Sol Rappaport of Brooklyn to 10 months in the penitentiary.

Judge Barrett termed Poppe and Byrnes "traitors."

"Selling out your college was the most despicable thing you could do," he added. "You are both miserable."

The case broke when Julius Kellogg, Manhattan's star Negro center, told Kenneth Norton, his coach, that he had been approached by the bribers. Norton told authorities and the later investigation disclosed a series of cases involving gamblers and college players attempting to fix games.

Record ABC Prize List Is Approved

MILWAUKEE—A record prize total of $545,367 will be distributed at this year's American Bowling Congress Tournament.

Delegates to the annual convention yesterday approved the amount, topping the previous record of $410,938 set at Detroit in 1948.

Also approved was a raise in the fee for next year's ABC meet from $3 to $5. The entry fee will remain at $5, making the new total charge per event next year $10 per man per event instead of $8.

George A. Oberauer of Buffalo, N. Y., was named president. Frank G. Mittel of Detroit was named third vice president.

Executive directors include Irving C. Beehr, Battle Creek, Mich.; Ruben Kern, Frankenthum, Mich.; and Carlton J. Sawyer, Escanaba, Mich.

Yesterday's Stars

Batting—Steve Bilko, Cardinals, drove in three runs on a pair of doubles and a single to lead St. Louis to a 6-4 triumph over Pittsburgh.

Pitching—Bob Kelly, Cubs, pitched Chicago to a five-hit 7-3 triumph over Cincinnati.

Fielding—Bill Skowron, Cardinals, made two errors in the ninth inning to help St. Louis win 6-4.

Baseball—The Detroit Tigers took over the lead in the American League standings with a 5-4 win over the Cleveland Indians.

Baseball—The New York Yankees won their 10th straight game with a 5-1 triumph over the Boston Red Sox.

Baseball—The Chicago Cubs won their 10th straight game with a 5-1 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds.

Baseball—The St. Louis Cardinals won their 10th straight game with a 5-1 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Baseball—The Philadelphia Phillies won their 10th straight game with a 5-1 triumph over the New York Giants.

Baseball—The Washington Senators won their 10th straight game with a 5-1 triumph over the Detroit Tigers.

team blasting a potent 692 series to wrest the singles lead from Ed Martenson who led last week with 642.

The Jensen & Jensen team surrendered first place in the team event to Holland Furnace. The new leaders racked up a 3042 to erase the previous top mark of 3020.

Milt Lueneburg and Lyle Smith retained their top rung in the doubles ladder, with 1249. A pair of Jensen & Jensen keggers, Leon-

COOKS—The visiting Rapid River High School baseball team was held to a lone hit and one run as Cooks opened the season here yesterday with a 16-1 Central League victory.

Cooks rapped nine hits and took advantage of six Rapid River errors to post the win.

The teams tangled again Sunday afternoon at 2 at Rapid River.

Brewers Up Lead In American Association

(By The Associated Press)
Milwaukee increased its American Association lead to two games last night, beating Minneapolis 8-7.

The Brewers victory was forged in a three-run eighth inning that enabled the defending champions to overcome a two-run deficit. The Brews hammered 14 hits.

Toledo, defeated by Louisville 18-2 Thursday, came back with a 3-2 win over the Colonels. Louisville got only four hits off Mud Hen starter Glen Moulder in 7½ innings and none off Harry Grubb, who finished.

Columbus had the same 3-2 edge over Indianapolis as Ed Ludwig hurled a five-hitter.

Kansas City, struggling to get out of the Association cellar, blasted five home runs in a 9-7 victory over St. Paul.

Three Cheers For Cubs In Second Place In National

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Everybody is cheering for the giddy St. Louis Browns. How about three raahs and a tiger for the chipper Chicago Cubs.

Take a look at the National league standings. That club in second place isn't the "dark horse" Phillies. It isn't the "rocket rookies" of the Boston Braves. It isn't even the defending miracleman New York Giants. C-H-I-C-A-G-O is the word.

A year ago the windy town ran a fever over the White Sox. The go-go Sox were the rage. Paul Richards was the reigning genius. Now the Sox are struggling along in sixth place. Wrigley Field interest is perking up.

Were Ridiculed
Most of the National league owners ridiculed the Cubs all winter for not making deals. "What can they do with that club?" they asked. "How can they afford to stand pat? Eddie Miksis is the only pro on the roster."

That was the way the conversation ran at the winter meetings and around the training camps, too. Sure they won the Grapefruit league title. But they did that last year. It didn't mean a thing. Or did it?

The Cubs have carried their fine pre-season play into the regular season. With a 6-2 record they're within clutching distance of the lead, trailing Brooklyn by only one game.

Spring Sensation
Frankie Baumholtz has been a spring sensation. In yesterday's 7-3 victory over Cincinnati, he rapped a triple and two singles to boost his average to .455. He has hit safely in all eight Cub games. Hank Sauer's home run and two runs batted in boosted him into a second place tie in both departments with three homers and 12 RBIs. Bob Rammazzotti, nitless yesterday, had been so hot at bat that he chased Miksis over to shortstop when he returned to the lineup.

Bob Kelly silenced the Reds with five hits.

The St. Louis Cardinals' Gerry Staley needed help from reliever Al Brazle and solid hitting by Wally Westlake, Stan Musial and Steve Bilko to whip Pittsburgh, 6-4. The 28-year-old curvier had a shutout until the seventh. When the Pirates jumped him for two more in the eighth, Brazle came in. Westlake, and Musial smashed three singles to account for half the Cards' 12 hits.

Big Noise

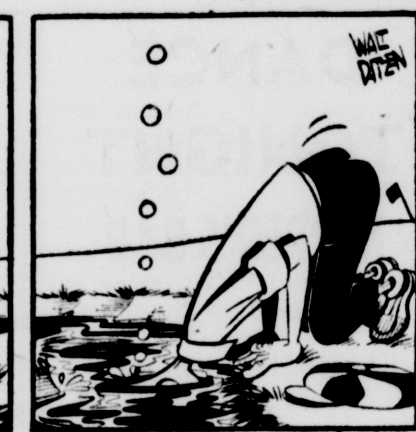

Harry Simpson, who floundered with a .229 average in his rookie year was the big noise in Cleveland's 5-4 victory over the White Sox. The fleet outfielder capped a three-hit day by knocking home two runs with a double in the last of the ninth to tie the score after Chicago scored two in the top half. Simpson then came home on Luke Easter's fly with the winning run. It was a tight battle between Early Wynn and Billy Pierce until the ninth.

The upstart Browns and Detroit were not scheduled. Everybody else was rained out, including the first '51 Polo Grounds meeting of Brooklyn and the New York Giants. Other postponements were New York at Washington and Boston at Philadelphia in the American and Philadelphia at Boston in the National.

Fishing Army Takes To Outdoors Today

By JAMES A. O. CROWE
KALKASKA, Mich.—(AP)—Thousands of baits from delicate dry flies to worms struck the world-famous waters of Michigan today as fishing for trout, bluegills, sunfish, pike, walleyes and muskellunge opened.

Generally clear and warm weather brought an estimated 300,000 anglers out of doors to try their luck. Of the total, an estimated 40,000 to 50,000 were working the northern trout lakes and streams.

The trout anglers were down from last year, but that is the whole idea of the new system of opening the bluegill and other seasons on the same day as the trout season.

Less Trouters
The availability of other fishing on the last Saturday in April reduced the hordes that formerly descended on the trout waters on opening day.

Opening day, which has come to symbolize the release of outdoor lovers from the shackles of winter, was being celebrated at Kalkaska and Nahant with fishing festivals, fishing contests, king and queen coronations, dances and parades were on the agendas.

The northern woods were still largely in their brown winter garb and many places were dangerously dry. Conservation officials were appealing to fishermen to exercise extreme care with matches, lighted tobacco and camp fires.

Trout fishermen found conditions unusually good for opening day. Absence of great amounts of rain for two weeks had lowered the streams, in some cases to almost normal. The water generally in streams was clear and had warmed in the northern Lower Peninsula to 50 degrees and up.

Few Fly Hatchers
Some fly hatchers had been reported, raising hopes of dry fly fishermen that they would experience the thrill of hooking a few rising fish.

Most troutmen, however, were relying on the more effective early season attractions of the wet fly, streamer and live bait.

Conservation fish division men said there were plenty of trout in the lakes and streams. There was no evidence of any unusual winter kill, and the natural population has been augmented by plantings of some 200,000 legal sized fish, mostly in streams.

Trout lakes have received some 200,000 under-sized fish but they will not be available until they grow up next year.

The festivities were joined by thousands of smelt dippers and those fishing the spring runs of perch. Smelt dipping continues good in all northern Lower Peninsula streams along Lake Huron, but perch runs were nearly over along Saginaw Bay.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

CHICAGO—(AP)—Ohio State, scoring all its runs in the fourth inning, opened defense of its Big Ten baseball title with a 4-1 win over Michigan State yesterday.

Stew Hein's two run homer featured the uprising. Paul Ebert, the Buckeyes' freshman basketball star, held the Spartans to four hits.

Illinois, last year's runnerup, got off to a bad start as the conference season began, buried by Michigan under a 20-7 score. The Wolverines bombed five Illinois pitchers with 19 hits, including two triples and a single by Don Eaddy.

A pitching shutout was recorded by Minnesota's Ken McGonagle as the Gophers beat Iowa 6-0. Frank Larson and Bob Thompson homered for Minnesota in a five-run fifth inning.

In other opening Big Ten games, Wisconsin took Purdue 7-2 behind Ronald Unke's five-hit twirling, and Northwestern beat Indiana 6-4 as Buster Carlson hurled a seven-hitter.

Five doubleheaders are on tap today with Northwestern at Purdue, Illinois at Michigan State, Ohio State at Michigan, Wisconsin at Indiana and Iowa again at Minnesota.

Allies End 7-Year Occupation In Japan

TOKYO — (AP)—Emperor Hirohito and Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, commander of the fading Allied occupation, exchanged brief formal courtesy calls today as the hour neared for Japan's transition to a sovereign state.

Observers said it was unlikely the two would meet officially again after the seven-year Allied occupation ends at 10:30 p. m. Monday (8:30 a. m. EST).

Thirteen times in the past seven years the Emperor has slipped quietly out of his palace for an "incognito" visit to Allied headquarters.

Monarch Again

But this morning Hirohito appeared as a full-fledged monarch. His glistening black sedan complete with imperial crest—a huge 16-petal chrysanthemum—sped out of the front gate of the palace behind an escort of police motorcycles. The Emperor was accompanied by five court officials.

Ridgway returned the courtesy call this afternoon. Earlier, in a farewell radio address to the Japanese people, Ridgway said American troops will be withdrawn from Japan as soon as the nation is able to defend itself.

"I hope that day will not be so far distant," he said. "The United States certainly does not want to prolong needlessly the stationing of its troops anywhere abroad. The occupation commander conceded there probably will be friction between the Japanese and U. S. soldiers. And he said he recognized that 'Communists and other subversive groups will attempt deliberately to aggravate these difficulties.'"

Plants Returned

As the hour of Japan's independence approached, there were these other developments: Occupation authorities returned to Japanese owners nearly 850 plants seized for possible reparations payments.

The list included 315 aircraft plants, 131 arsenals, 25 air and munitions laboratories, 19 iron and steel mills, 18 shipyards, 94 machine tool plants and six synthetic rubber factories.

Officials said no private industrial property was removed for reparations during the occupation. However, equipment from 17 former Army and Navy arsenals was distributed among China, The Netherlands, the Philippines and Great Britain.

Merchant Ship Total Loss; Aground On Isle With Coal For Korea

TOKYO — (AP)—The Navy said today the merchant ship S. S. William Eaton which ran aground April 14 "has broken in two and is a complete loss."

The Navy announcement said the captain and the chief engineer, only two aboard, "are both safe (in) the stern section." They will be removed "when sea conditions permit."

The Eaton ran aground on to Shima, an island, about 60 miles south of Tokyo, during rough weather 12 days ago.

The ship carried a full load of coal, destined for Korea, when it ran aground. It was under charter to the military.

Choppy seas and high winds hampered salvage work.

The Navy identified the captain as Fred A. Solomon, Walnut Creek, Calif., and the chief engineer as John B. Williamson, San Jose, Calif.

Wall Street

By RADER WINGET
NEW YORK — (AP)—Fractional gains were the rule today in a quiet stock market.

At the same time there were enough small minus signs and leaders trading unchanged to keep the list as a whole from assuming a too vigorous upside character.

Railroads were almost all higher by a small margin. In that same category were motors and mail order houses. Other groups were quietly mixed.

Steels idled along steadily an eighth or so either way without feature. Traders and investors apparently are letting them alone for the moment until a court decision is handed down on the question of whether President Truman has the right to seize the entire industry.

Northern Pacific, which has extensive oil holdings, displayed a little activity at a slightly higher price.

Chicago & Southern Air Lines, planning a merger with Delta Air Lines, was actively higher at the opening, but it later turned about and traded at a small loss.

Upside stocks included Southern Railway, Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio, Southern Pacific, Sinclair Oil, Gulf Mobile & Ohio, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Studebaker, Woolworth, and Boeing.

A little lower were Texas Co., Celotex, U. S. Gypsum, American Cyanamid, U. S. Rubber, and National Distillers.

Corporate bonds were steady. The stock market yesterday made good forward progress with the railroads heading the rise.

Governor Trying To Get Even With State Lawmakers

He says, in effect, "the people shan't decide whether the constitution is to be rewritten, because it would be rewritten by people who don't represent the people, and, anyway, the people wouldn't approve it this year; and anyway, why should I let the legislature get off the hook; and, anyway, it wouldn't do any good anyhow."

Only Real Solution

There are a lot of men connected with government, or benefitting from government, who hate to see the constitution changed. They fear they may not fare so well under a new one. But even the most stubborn will admit, when his guard is down, that there can be no real solution of the state's problems until Michigan gets a new constitution.

And strangely, the very pressure groups who have done so much to upset Williams' plans and try so hard to defeat him at every turn are the same ones who don't want a new constitution and who benefit most by his veto of the constitutional convention plan.

Religious Fanatics Bar Blood Transfusion For Badly Hurt Girl

ODESSA, Tex. — (AP)—The father and two brothers of a critically injured 20-year-old girl say no doctor will give her a blood transfusion "until officers come and arrest us."

Grace Marie Olliff, oil company office worker in nearby Midland, has been unconscious since a head-on traffic collision near here Sunday night in which four others were killed.

Doctors wanted to give a blood transfusion but her father, William Olliff, 51, Midland trailer camp operator, objected. Since then either the father or one of the two brothers, John, 27, and Ben, 23, both of Brooklyn, N. Y., have stood guard at the hospital room door.

"We will stay here and ask that no transfusion be administered until officers come and arrest us," John Olliff said.

The three men—and the daughter—are members of the religious

Won't Believe It

The Communists apparently refused to believe that some 99,000 said they would go home only if forced to do so.

The Red Peiping radio declared Saturday "the demand of the Korean and Chinese prisoners to return home is unshakable."

The broadcast charged that two recent riots on Kojie Island were "massacres" designed to "stamp out the ineradicable aspirations of the Chinese and Korean prisoners to return home."

Ionia Employees Protest

Fox's statement was bitterly assailed by a group of employees at the Ionia State Reformatory, an institution for 18 to 22-year-olds.

In a petition to Gov. Williams, Reformatory workers said:

"We strenuously object to having psychopathic prisoners who routinely congratulated on their leadership. x x x x. The serious breakdown in morale is endangering the lives of all who work with inmates."

They added, "our institution has suffered unrest because of exaggerated statements in the newspapers and over the radio about a 'new era in penal administration.'" (Fox had said the mutiny agreement heralded such an era).

Messhall Cleared

Meanwhile, inmate leaders Ward and (Crazy) Jack Hyatt were in solitary confinement as the big prison cleanup job got underway.

Guards and state police went on with a painstaking search of all cellblocks for hidden weapons. The mess hall was cleared of wreckage and the first hot meal served since the rioting started Sunday night.

Sheriffs of all counties were told to hold their convicted prisoners in county jails for at least one week. As many present inmates as possible were sent to nearby farm camps until wrecked prison facilities can be repaired.
